Asterisk Ship Agency Management Solution

Powered by Microsoft Dynamics NAV

In the ship agency management business, we know that lowering operational and administrative costs is your topmost concern. This can be achieved through a variety of ways; ensuring that husbandry services are delivered on time, vessel operations are well coordinated and an effective way of managing multiple port calls would be established. A system that can instantly connect you with ship owners, operators, charterers and ship boards would be a great advantage to your business as well as a transparent method of communicating pricing structure so your customers would get exactly what they are charged for. Securing trust by creating a hub for your customers for them to view the activities and up-to-date information and movements of their vessels and creating a standard operational method and procedure for all your agents to follow would also be a strong suit for your business. Asterisk Marine Ship Agency Management Solution provides that and more.
